16th Annual Washington Summit scheduled for May

The 16th annual Washington DC Summit is again approaching. It is scheduled for May 14-16. Over 40 community leaders and volunteers will travel to the nation's capital with a comprehensive agenda that will touch on education, transportation, housing, agriculture, healthcare, immigration and quality of life. Participants will meet with congressional staff members and federal agency leaders to discuss the various needs of the community, as well as detail the impacts federal policy has in the various subject areas on our community.

Meetings with Senator Harkin, Senator Grassley and Representative Latham are also scheduled. In addition to the busy meeting schedule a reception is also held. The reception is an opportunity to meet many former Marshalltownians who now reside in the Washington DC area. We are continuing to seek the contact information of individuals from central Iowa who now reside in the Washington area. We encourage you to call the Chamber office at 753-6645 with their contact information so that we can invite them to join us at the reception. This reception is co-sponsored by Emerson Process Management, Lennox Manufacturing and MMSC.

Representative Mark Smith and Marshalltown Mayor Gene Beach are the Washington Summit Co-chairs.

Members of the 2006 Washington Summit, Michelle Spohnheimer, Floyd Harthun, and John Hughes, attend the annual reception hosted by MEDIC for the congressional delegation and former Iowans living in Washington.

Pieper to leave Chamber

Amy Pieper

After seven years at the Chamber, Amy Pieper has resigned her position as Executive Vice President. She has accepted a position at Iowa Valley Community College District as part of the economic development and job training team. "As a key staff member at the Chamber, Amy has led membership, committees and events that are very important to the mission of the Chamber. I want to thank her for her strong commitment to the Chamber and I wish her every success in her new job," said Ken Anderson, Chamber President.

A search for a replacement will begin in the near future.

MCC Job Fair was a success

The Marshalltown Community College campus was the busiest place in town as the annual Job Fair drew a tremendous crowd that took advantage of having 80 employers and/or graduate schools in one location. With workshops and free resume critiquing, and an on-line job application center, attendees had a variety of activities to choose from – all offering great opportunities to improve their job-seeking abilities.

Every spring MCC hosts a job fair that brings exhibitors who are anxious to hire our community college students and graduates. This year the hours were extended from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and well over 500 people attended. Employers who participated were pleased with the attendance. Comments that were shared included, “The hours were wonderful – conducive for both students, unemployed and currently employed! The fair was a success!” “There was a good mix of students and community members.” “We made some good contacts – definitely was worthwhile.” “Thank you for the opportunity to showcase our agency.”

Sandy Supianoski, Iowa Valley Continuing Education Director of ABE and Employment Specialist, says she knows of several students who got interviews because of the contacts they made at the Job Fair, and at least one was hired.

Winners of door prizes were: Tony Hauger – MP3 player; Randy Rosenbalm – Buena Vista University T-shirt; Jarryd Van Seolem – Buena Vista University Coffee Mug; Jorge Diaz-Santiago - Buena Vista University Coffee Mug; Jody Cole – Flash Drive; Ashley Eubanks – Flash Drive; Cindy Hardy – Flash Drive; Joseph Sims – Flash Drive; Camren Greene – Flash Drive; George Rivera – Flash Drive; Amber Denison – Attache Notebook; Lee Hendrickson - $15 MCC Tiger Shack Gift Certificate; Pat Downs – MCC Bookstore Gift Basket; Linda Brimmer – MCC Bookstore Gift Basket; Kelley Oetker - $25 Iowa Valley Continuing Education Gift of Learning; Janet Cruz – MCC T-shirt; Estelle Buffalo – MCC T-shirt; Will Perkins - $10 Kwik Star gas card; Chandra Fleming - $10 Kwik Star gas card; Maria Alaniz - $10 Kwik Star gas card; Derice Aragon - $10 Kwik Star gas card; Raul Hernandez – MCC Water bottle; and Jeff Bittner – MCC Travel Mug.

For more information on job seeking assistance that is available all year long, contact the Career and Employment Center on the MCC campus, 3700 S. Center Street, Room 510, or call 641-752-4645 or 1-800-284-4823.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Iowa Lean and Growing

“Lean” has been a hot topic in management in the first decade of the 21st century. It is renowned for its focus on reduction of wastes in order to improve overall customer value. For many, Lean is the set of “tools” that assist in the identification and then steady elimination of waste, which improves quality and reduces production time and costs. For others, Lean is the focus of implementing the flow or smoothness of work through the system and not upon “waste reduction” per se. The difference between these two approaches is not the goal but the prime approach to achieving it.

In order to help local businesses adopt the Lean method, Iowa Valley Continuing Education will be hosting “Iowa Lean and Growing, Become a Leader” on May 8. This is a day-long conference to help you learn how to transform your organization into a Lean enterprise. You will learn the tools to help your organization become more flexible and efficient, learn the best practices for implementing Lean, and develop a network of peers.

This conference is intended for managers and process improvement roles in the following segments: government, education, healthcare, business (all sizes), and service industry.

Keynote speakers include Seth Davies, senior consultant, Competitive Solutions, Inc. and Dale Crownover, president and CEO Texas Nameplate Company, Inc.

Seth has over 17 years experience in the consulting and training arena and is a consultant delivering business solutions to organizations. He will focus on the lean management role of an organization to create, emulate, communicate and reinforce the non-negotiable strategies necessary to sustain business success.

Dale holds the position of president for this 43-person, family-owned business that makes nameplates. His presentation will help you understand and create a continuous improvement culture, what the essentials are for developing a Lean culture, and how to translate belief into action.

The conference will also include these breakout sessions: Navigating Change, The Lean Toolkit, Aligning Your Organization for Success, and the Visual Workplace. The cost is $95 and lunch is provided. For more information about the conference or to register, contact Iowa Valley Continuing Education, 800-284-4823 or 641-752-4645, or online at www.iowavalley.edu/ivce.

The benefits of lean are out there. Organizations have proven over and over again how implementing lean has helped them become more competitive and more efficient. They have demonstrated increased productivity, customer service, and employee satisfaction and retention. Don't miss this opportunity to see how adopting Lean can help your organization.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

38th Annual Scholastic Recognition Banquet

The evening of April 26th was an evening of celebration as several Marshall County high school seniors and their families come together for the 38th Annual Scholastic Recognition Banquet. The evening was hosted by the Marshalltown Area Chamber of Commerce along with United Bank & Trust and Koehler Insurance, key sponsors for the event.

The honorees were from East Marshall, Green Mountain-Garwin, Marshalltown and West Marshall High Schools. They are seniors in the top five percent of this year's graduating class. A total of 25 seniors were honored.

This year's banquet speaker was Cynthia Ragland, a graduate of Marshalltown High School, now an optometrist at McFarland Clinic.

The Business Education Alliance would like to thank the businesses whose student sponsorships made the Scholastic Recognition Banquet possible: Alliant Energy, AmericInn, Big 8 Tyre Center, Buena Vista University-Marshalltown

YOUNG PROFESSIONALS

Marshalltown Young Professionals Represented at State Capitol

The Marshalltown Young Professionals were represented at the first YP Day at the Capitol on Thursday, April 5. President-elect Rusty Feldman attended the event with more than 50 other young professionals from across the state.

The day kicked off with the Generation Iowa bill being signed by Governor Chet Culver. Young professionals were also allowed time to meet with their local legislators. Feldman met with Senator Larry McKibben and Representative Mark Smith and was able to sit on the house floor with Representative Smith.

“It was great to represent Marshalltown and talk to our legislators about what we’re doing in our community and for our state,” said Feldman. “It was an honor to be part of the first YP Day at the Capitol.”

Marshalltown CVB represented at national sports show

Marshalltown Convention & Visitors Bureau Director Lisa Purvis recently attended the National Association of Sports Commissions (NASC) Sports Event Symposium in Dallas, Texas. The NASC is the sports event industry's leading networking organization. Founded in 1992, the NASC represents almost 400 organizations including CVB's, sports commissions, event owners and industry suppliers. Produced annually by the NASC, the NASC Sports Event Symposium is the single most important sports event conference for industry professionals. Attendees are provided with new ideas, practical tips and the hottest trends.

Who attends the NASC Sports Event Symposium? In addition to host organizations (CVB's, Sports Commissions, Park & Rec Departments, and venues), event owners and suppliers are represented and looking for new or additional locations. Event owners of youth sports organizations, national governing bodies, and specialty sport associations seek a variety of venues and communities to host regional and national events.

In addition to multiple networking opportunities, conference attendees were also offered market segment meetings. These best practices discussions allowed organizations of similar size and objectives to meet for open discussion and information sharing guided by NASC staff and industry experts.

During the opening session, the 2007 NASC Sports Event Symposium celebrated the 15th anniversary of the National Association of Sports Commissions. This session provided an opportunity for event owners to make presentations highlighting the events they have available.

As the host of many large sporting events, Marshalltown has the facilities and the location to be the destination for even more events. The NASC Sports Event Symposium was an ideal event to showcase our community.

Historic Walking Tour brochure available now

The Marshalltown Convention & Visitors Bureau has created a Historic Walking Tour brochure to highlight many historically and architecturally significant buildings in the Central Business District. The full-color brochure is a self-guided tour with the local resident and traditional tourist in mind. The brochure features 14 properties from the east end of Main Street (Orpheum Theater) to the west end of Main Street (Willard Mansion) with many private and public properties in between, including a short side trip up to the Binford House, Susie Sower House, and Taylor School.

The brochure was developed from a recommendation of the MCVB's Leisure Travel Team to encourage more visitors to explore the community at their leisure and pace. It is also a wonderful resource for local residents to learn more about these properties. Brochures are available at the MCVB office in the Fisher Community Center and the Marshalltown Central Business District/Main Street office. The brochure can also be viewed on the MCVB's website at www.visitmarshalltown.com.
