

Marshalltown Strong

Shop Local Days

Hosted by Cartwright Downtown Farmer's Market

August 21st 4~7pm

Free event for local businesses to advertise and share their business services.

Cartwright Market is Marshalltown's original farmer's market! Since 1985 local producers, bakers and crafters have gathered at Cartwright Pavilion to offer their goods to our community. Not many know that this market's roots actually date back to the mid-70's at the 18th Avenue Sale Barn! Cartwright Market has historically been held every Wednesday evening and Saturday morning, ever since the first market!

Our beloved pavilion survived the July 19th tornado with only a few scars. Some of our vendors were also in the path of the tornado! We all survived and came back stronger than ever this season!

Now, we want to help our community do the same!

On August 21st, we will offer all available spaces to locally owned family and small businesses for FREE! We want our community businesses to come share their products and goods with the community. Everyone is welcome. Some shoppers may be surprised just how many services and products are available in our wonderful hometown!
