

Arts come alive with addition of 16 murals in past year

The Marshall County Arts & Culture Alliance has officially wrapped up its mural season with the completion of Marshalltown's Postcard Mural at Thompson True Value and The Starry Night of Marshalltown at Great Western Bank. The Marshalltown Mural program completed a very successful 2021 season installing 16 murals around the community.

Amber Danielson, Executive Director of the Arts & Culture Alliance shared, “we couldn’t be more thrilled with the success of the mural program’s second year. It has been exciting to see the vibrancy added throughout our community and to expand our mural portfolio with such a wide-variety of styles from talented local, regional and national artists.”

Recently Des Moines artist Jimmy Navarro completed Marshalltown's Postcard Mural on the south wall of Thompson True Value. This project was sponsored by the Marshalltown Development Foundation (MDF). MDF hand selected this location as it is the first building to welcome visitors into our downtown. The welcoming mural incorporates landmarks and icons from around the community within the letters of Marshalltown, including the water tower, MHS Roundhouse, Iowa Veterans Home and many more!

Dave Thompson of Thompson True Value shared, “our family has owned our business in downtown Marshalltown for 36 years. Building our new store in the downtown has shown an unwavering commitment and belief in Marshalltown and the downtown. We are very excited to have this beautiful mural painted on our new store as a welcoming entrance to the downtown. The Arts & Culture Alliance took our requests and the artist envisioned them into the mural. The artist, Jimmy, has hit this out of the park and has become a part of the True Value family! We recognize the need for additional art in the downtown and are happy to contribute $5,000 towards sculptures in the downtown.”

Community members and visitors alike will enjoy the Postcard Mural upon entering the historic Marshalltown Central Business District – the heart of where MDF originated 21 years ago – a nod to the true MDF mission that was dedicated to creating, promoting, and funding projects that enhance the appearance and attitude of Marshalltown. Continued on page 2...

Artists Jimmy Navarro and Katie Jensen shared, “it’s been a great experience for us creating this mural for the City of Marshalltown. Over the last few weeks, we have been treated like family and we are especially proud of this mural. We hope it brings joy, showing the City’s great pride and its history.”

Additionally, local artists Landaca, Katie and Danielle Czerniewski and Melynda McCord completed their first large-scale mural at Great Western Bank. It has been named The Starry Night of Marshalltown which was inspired by Vincent Van Gogh’s The Starry Night. Marshalltown details were incorporated into the piece including the Marshall County Courthouse, Orpheum, Marshalltown M’s and more. In addition, a wing selfie wall was added on the south corner, inviting people to take their picture with the piece.

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT

Stepping Stones Christian Bookstore

Stepping Stones Christian Bookstore has been in Marshalltown for 11 years, and also has another store located in Grinnell. Their mission is to further God’s kingdom in the communities they serve and to help others along in their faith journey. At the store currently there are 8 part-time employees and 1 full-time employee willing and ready to serve the community. Each of the staff members are involved in their own individual churches within the community.

Stepping Stones offers an array of items such as books, gifts, home décor, cards, apparel, toys and memorial items. If you can’t find what you are looking for ask the staff about special ordering. They are able to special order items anytime, just let a staff member know what you have in mind.

Being located in Marshalltown has given Stepping Stones Christian Bookstore the opportunity to live out their mission of making a positive influence in the community. Another perk of being in Marshalltown is the opportunity to be involved with the Chamber. The Chamber shares a similar vision to Stepping Stones and that is making a positive impact on the community.

Owner Mindy Uitermarkt said she is so glad to be a business owner because she gets to do what she loves each day. She gets to use the gifts God gave her to hopefully make a positive impact on the community. She also wants to let those in the Marshalltown area know that she is very grateful to those who shop local and support their mission to help others. Stepping Stones Christian Bookstore is always available to listen or to pray with those who are struggling or going through a tough time.

Greetings Marshalltown Chamber members!

The holidays are upon us! It is a busy time working IN your business. Did you know that it is, also, a great time of year to work ON your business? We change the batteries in our smoke detectors annually. We keep annual dental, vision and/or medical appointments to make sure we are running smoothly. We even honor service schedule for our vehicles! SO, how about scheduling regular check-ups or ins with the people who help keep your most important economic engine healthy- your business?

For instance, year end is a great time to talk to your accountant. Discussion topics could include: Am I maximizing my tax deductions? I am contemplating hiring a new employee, what does that look like? I understand that there are changes coming to the Iowa Sales Tax system. What does that look like for me? I am frustrated with my bookkeeping software. Can you help me? I might want to sell my business this year. What should I think about? How do I know how much it is worth?

Then, how about a conversation with your attorney? Perhaps, the business has been organized as a sole proprietorship since inception. Your attorney is a great resource to help you think about the different legal forms an Iowa business can organize. There may be benefits available to you through organizing differently than when the business first opened.

How about your insurance agent? Sometimes we steer clear of these business partners, because they might "sell us something." They might ALSO keep us from experiencing a financial loss, because the business insurance coverages do not match the current business risk. Does your agent know that the business keeps inventory at the owner's home? Does the agent know the business has expanded into woodworking and has a lathe? Does the agent know the building has recently been fitted with new wiring, plumbing and mechanicals? An annual check in/up is a great way to convey changes.

Finally, if your business continues to feel the effects of COVID, and the PPP loans were not quite enough, there is time to apply for an Economic Injury Disaster Loan. These loans are administered directly by the SBA and are available until December 31, 2021. You can find more information online at sba.gov.

SBDC is here to work with you. How can we help? Let's get a conversation going. You can reach us through a click or a call. The fastest method to connect with us is to visit our website at iowasbdc.org, select the request counseling button, complete the electronic form and choose Iowa State as your center of choice. Call us at 515-296-7828 or, ask a Chamber official how to reach us and they will point you in our direction.

Workforce shortage will not be an easy fix

John Hall, Marshalltown Area Chamber of Commerce President and CEO

It's impossible to travel through our community without seeing an abundance of help wanted and now hiring signage. Almost every employer is struggling to find employees, struggling to retain existing, and fighting to set themselves apart as a premier employer. Wages are on the rise, workplace amenities are abundant, and flexibility to work from home are all occurring, yet we struggle to find the people we need to fill the jobs that are available. The unfortunate truth is that there is not a silver bullet to solving the workforce shortage, and the path to addressing our challenges will be long and painful.

I'm frequently asked my opinion regarding the workforce challenges given that pre-pandemic this issue didn't seem to be as acute a problem as it is today. The pandemic accelerated a problem that has been a long time coming, and highlighted significant gaps for increasing our labor force participation. The first factor was the major retirements we saw in 2020 and 2021 from the baby boomer population. For years we have been discussing a cliff that existed. More people were retiring daily than were coming into the workforce, and this meant that one day we would not have enough people to fill open jobs. That day arrived sometime in 2020 when the economy was uncertain and unemployment spiked, and that dial cannot be turned back. Additionally, when schools closed in 2020 and with as much uncertainty that existed for kids returning to school, many families that had operated as dual income households learned to operate as single income households. That trend may be something to work at reversing, but without sufficient childcare offerings, may be tough to turn around as well.

Being aware of the challenges and underlying causes is the first step, but overcoming this challenge and assisting our business community in meeting their current and future needs is the overall goal. At the Marshalltown Area Chamber of Commerce, we work hard to align our efforts to what can be most helpful to the broader business community. Any survey of area businesses will overwhelmingly reflect that workforce is their greatest challenge. We know this because of the survey we conduct through our Business Retention & Expansion efforts every year with the county's largest employers. Here is what we are doing to assist our business community in overcoming this roadblock to growth. First, we are bringing on a full-time position dedicated to the workforce issues. Our Workforce Development Coordinator position will be plugged in with the HR community throughout the county to ensure they are staying up to date on challenges and concerns and trying to meet the moment for our businesses. Second, we will be launching key programming to better position our community for the attraction of new workers. One of the first programs we look to implement is to become a Home Base Iowa Community. This designation signals to the state and country that we are supporting veterans, that are leaving the military, to come to Marshall County for meaningful employment opportunities. We will be putting together programming designed for interns that are spending the summer working for some of our great companies, to ensure that they have a great experience in Marshall County and may give them a reason to say yes to a job here when that time comes. Finally, we intend to plug in where it makes sense and make sure we are bringing best practices from around the state of Iowa back here. Our team is gearing up to assist our businesses in pushing through this new normal.

Unfortunately, the brutal truth is that we are still going to have businesses struggling to find the people they need for the job openings that they have. The long-term efforts have to be to introduce more automation, co-bots, and technology into our businesses as we can to meet the demands of consumers. Often in the Economic Development industry we hear about the evils of automation as the ultimate "job-killer." It's time to flip the narrative on what they are. When automation is introduced, there is a shift in the workforce demanded by that company. Yes, there may be an overall reduction in staff, but when there is a shortage, now is the time to make those cuts. The staff that is hired in place to manage and maintain those robots will be higher skilled and higher wage-earning positions. This means a significantly more meaningful employment opportunity now exists. Continued on page 12...

For more upcoming events visit our community calendar at www.marshalltown.org/events

Continued from page 10... The workforce conversation is completely different than it has ever been in the history of our nation. The concept of “if you create a job someone will move to your community to fill it” is becoming a thing of the past. People are now choosing where they wish to live and then finding employment from there. So, if we want to be competitive as a community, if we want to grow our workforce, and if we want to see businesses continue to choose to locate and grow here in Marshalltown, we need to support more cool amenities, unique small businesses and creative placemaking efforts that will make us an attractive place to be. The more reasons we can give people to say “Yes” to Marshalltown, the better we can make our community. While this process takes time, and isn’t easy to achieve, our organization is ready to lead the charge for Marshall County.
