Marshalltown's Momentum Is Real and Just Beginning

I now have passed the four-year mark leading the Marshalltown Area Chamber of Commerce. On August 2nd, I marked that milestone, a reminder of how long economic development can take to gain traction yet how worthwhile that persistence is once momentum builds.

Today the economic energy in Marshalltown is palpable. Walk around town and you will see construction happening everywhere, visible signs of investment growth and opportunity blooming across our community.

A prime example is the expansion by MARSHALLTOWN Company. In May the community gathered for a groundbreaking at their South 8th Avenue campus for a roughly 170,000 sq ft expansion, their third major expansion in Iowa in six years, set to bring their facility to 350,000 sq ft. Earlier this year they also added second story offices and are reconfiguring older buildings now to make room for a new entrance, break room, and expanded manufacturing space helping them support future hiring here in town.

At the same time JBS is investing significantly in a new cold storage warehouse onsite strengthening their long-term commitment to our community, even amid broader uncertainty in the meat-packing industry across the state. JBS has shown that in those times they are willing to grow and expand their investments and have stepped up, not only in Marshalltown to invest and grow, but throughout Iowa we see their investments continuing to manifest.

Another local success story is The Integration Group (TIG). Just three weeks ago the City Council heard about the project and moved forward with bringing back proposed terms for a Tax Increment Financing (TIF) agreement to support their upcoming expansion, a $15 million investment to add 90,000 sq ft and create 50 new jobs. This expansion highlights the fact that without proactive efforts such as those by the Chamber and City, TIG might have chosen growth elsewhere, showing just how crucial local support and persistence are in keeping businesses rooted here.

CO₂ Refrigeration Systems, which began their project last year, is now ramping up hiring. Their manufacturing space is built out, sales are growing, and their presence is firmly established in Marshalltown.

Reserve Development's Shops at Marshalltown project is transforming the Marshalltown Mall. With the support of City Council for a $7.2 million TIF Agreement to support their nearly $43 million redevelopment, we expect to see new retail, restaurant, and entertainment options emerge by mid-2026, that will recement Marshalltown as a regional shopping destination.

Creekside Estates is a townhome project just north of Wayward Social that has been under construction for the past year. Phase one of 24 market rate townhome units is coming to completion with occupancy already beginning to ramp up.

the Apgar Family Water Plaza and further toward Center Street the Martha Ellen Tye Playhouse (Phase two of the Marshalltown Arts and Civic Center's transformational redevelopment).

Alliant Energy has also begun advancing its application through the Iowa Utilities Board for a new power generation station adjacent to its existing facility. If approved, it will bring significant construction jobs and strengthen Marshalltown's capacity to attract additional industrial and manufacturing opportunities with reliable and consistent access to power.

With broad community input as a priority, the City is moving forward on updates to key planning tools, including their comprehensive plan, a housing study, and a facilities study for sports and recreation offerings. Each of these will offer the next layer of guidance for private-sector investment, helping to turn ambition into reality.

It is easy to lose sight of progress when you are in the thick of it. But today we have major projects underway, new investment flowing in, and much more on the horizon. Four years ago, these efforts were ideas today they are emerging as new buildings, jobs, amenities, and community transformation.

This is not the finish line. It is a mark in the sand showing how far strategy, persistence, and partnership can take us. It truly is a great time to be a Marshalltownian.

John Hall, Chamber President & CEO

Bruin Manufacturing Company featured on Fox Business Network's national segment, Manufacturing Marvels!

AUTOMATIC MOLDING-

Bruin Manufacturing Company was featured on Fox Business Network's national segment, Manufacturing Marvels! The segment aired on August 20th, showcasing Bruin's commitment to not only American manufacturing, but also Iowa manufacturing and innovative work being down right here in Iowa for 76 years and counting!

Founded over 75 years ago, Bruin Manufacturing is a family-owned plastic injection molding company that has remained in the same location in Marshalltown since its inception, recently expanding with a second production facility in Newton, IA. Originally established as a machine shop, Bruin quickly expanded into die casting before shifting exclusively to plastic injection molding in the late 1950's.

Bruin offers a full suite of design and engineering services, along with a full-service tool room. Since Bruin designs, builds, and maintains their client's molds onsite then produces the parts, they can immediately solve any production issues that may arise. This hands-on approach ensures fast turnaround times, lower costs, and precise molds meeting the customer's exact specifications.

Bruin uses premium steel to build durable molds, backed by a lifetime warranty at no extra cost. With full control from design to production, they ensure every part meets or exceeds expectations.

At Bruin, they utilize robotics and automation enabling faster production, improved consistency, reduced waste and high-quality output around the clock. With lights-out manufacturing, machines operate continuously across three shifts, while only requiring one shift of personnel to maintain operations allowing Bruin to fulfill requirements across a broad spectrum of demanding industries.

A message from the ISU Small Business Development Center:

Let's talk about customers....

Customers are faced with an abundance of choice to meet their needs in today's marketplace. Just like business owners they are, also, moving through an ever changing marketplace and have become more conscious about how they spend their dollars. We may not be able change the economic cycle, but we can manage customer experience.

If the business has a customer relationship management (CRM) system, this is a great time to see what the data is saying. Information to consider includes customer frequency, purchasing preferences, average sale. This data can help the business focus marketing efforts toward opportunities to encourage more customers and sales similar to those already occurring. If the business does not have or utilize a CRM system, it may be time to learn more about a CRM system and how it could help the business.

Next, understanding the business's unique customer information can be very helpful in retaining existing customers. For instance, perhaps we notice that a once regular customer is absent and a look at the CRM verifies the observation. The data probably doesn't say why. Why is helpful! A customer retention strategy to reach out to the client or clients for feedback would help. The change in use may be due to a previous poor experience, lack of product availability or simply a change in need on the part of the client. Armed with information we know whether effort should be spent reengaging the customer or developing a new one.

Finally, we should explore methods to keep our business top of the customer's mind. We could pursue free publicity, volunteer for activities that are meaningful to us, schedule an open house and invite, invite. We could offer coupons or discounts for return visits, ask a customer what they like about our business, ask the customer about complimentary products that they would consider.

No doubt, many of us have already incorporated these ideas or similar ones into our business practices. And, if you are like me, when the business is humming I become lax with the customer focused activities. No worries! We can begin again!

ISU SBDC is here to work with you. Our services are without cost and confidential. How can we help? Let's get a conversation going. We can be reached through a click or a call. The fastest method to connect with us is to visit iowasbdc.org, select the request counseling button, complete the electronic form and choose Iowa State as your center of choice. Call us at 515-296-7828 or, ask a Chamber official how to reach us and they will point you in our direction.
